ELECTRIC LIGHT POLE CRASHES TO SIDEWALK

Emil Smith of the Public Service Department Is Seriously Injured

The breaking of an electric light pole at 1422 South San Fernando road, at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon resulted in the hip of Emil Smith, 122A North Brand boulevard, an employee of the public service department of the city, being badly injured. Immediately after the accident Mr. Smith was rushed to the Glendale sanitarium, where an ex-ray disclosed the fact that the head of the femur or thigh bone, where it enters the hip socket, was shattered. If everything in connection with Mr. Smith's recovery progresses satisfactorily, it is believed he may be able to leave the hospital in between four and five months.

Mr. Smith and several other employees of the public service department, were repairing some wires on the pole when the accident happened. Smith was up the pole, which had become rotten at the point where it enters the ground. As the pole started to tilt, Smith, realizing what was wrong, immediately unfastened the safety strap, which held him to the pole. Quickly he started to descend, but before he could get to the ground the pole fell, pinning the unfortunate man beneath it. It fell along the sidewalk, and several pedestrians narrowly escaped injury.

Glendale Welfare Council Asks Help

Yard, president of the Glendale Welfare Council, announces that all the widows of the city and their little families who need a friendly helping hand will be well remembered with Thanksgiving boxes. Pupils of the high school and the intermediates have given generously for this work which is in charge of Mrs. E. L. Young, secretary of the council. Delivery of the boxes will be made on Wednesday.

Thoroughbred Swappers Brag on Getting Edge on the Other Swappers

The results that have been secured through the Swap column of the Glendale Daily Press have resulted in a continued interest in that department by the various thoroughbred swappers of the city. They know right well that Press swaps pay and for this reason they continue to "come back."

Frinstance, T. W. Watson, 710 East Broadway, has a dandy little chicken ranch with everything ready to start up in business. This is up the northern part of the state and he wants something around Glendale. Come through with an offer!

Listen, you duplex hunters, Zook, 112 East Broadway, has something in the way of a swap that will interest you if you mean business. This dandy duplex is located just off Vermont, one block from University. It's a money maker. He wants Glendale.

And here comes A. L. Baird, manager of Roy L. Kent company, of the real estate department, with a swap that should be snapped up by someone. He has a 6-room home on a lot 60x305, on which there is room for another house. What have you for this, asks Baird.

MRS. E. W. LEGG WINS BIG TURK

Mrs. E. W. Legg of 520 South San Fernando road won the big 14 pound turkey in a drawing held at Zite-Leen's, 140 North Brand boulevard on Monday. Mrs. Leng may have the turkey by calling for it.

CALIFORNIA ROCK PRODUCTS CO. HAS CREDITORS' MEET

President Declares If Liabilities Can Be Financed It Will Succeed

Yesterday morning at 10:30 there was a meeting of the nineteen creditors of the California Rock Products company, called by the president of the firm, Mr. Packard, at their plant, 1715 San Fernando road. The purpose of the meeting was to survey the financial situation of the company, examine the conditions, the assets, the liabilities, the possibilities, the market for the product, in general to see what can be done to save the company from suspending operations and closing down its plant, because of its heavy load of liabilities.

Mr. Packard declared it had a good mill, good marketable products, a good selling article and that to date they had sold $3550 worth of material since the mill started. The land where the building stands is leased for 10 years, at $25 per month rent. The sum of $3772.96 went into the building and $9931.56 into the equipment, while $472.52 went into improvements, all of which had not been paid for, making their liabilities, everything to date $14,624.28. A large trade in chicken grit had been worked up among grain and feed dealers so that in many instances it was displacing all kinds of shell used by poultry houses. Much of their product was also used in roofing instead of brick. Many return orders had been coming in, so that they are enabled to send out 40 ton carload lots. The company gets from $11 to $15 per ton for the product, giving a net profit of from $2.50 to $5 per ton. The kind of rock used, delivered at the plant was $5.75 the ton. And the milling cost was estimated at about $3 the ton to get ready for market. The capacity of the plant was about 18 tons per day. Their trade was steadily increasing because of the merits of the products, said Mr. Packard.

Should the creditors give the company a 90-day extension so as to give it time to float a loan of $16,000, he said, it would put it on its feet, pay off liabilities and give some capital to build a shed to house its product, which is needed very badly, as the rainy season approaches.

A motion was offered that a committee of five be appointed, consisting of three of the largest secured creditors and two of the unsecured, to go into all details of the conditions of the plant and report within two weeks to the rest of the creditors, recommending what is best to do to save the plant and to continue operations.

Fairbanks Morse & Co., Leland Bros., and the Smith, Booth, Usher companies were appointed on the committee as the largest secured creditors.

BAD CHECK EVIL BEFORE CREDIT MEN

Growing Worse, Says Pomona Association Manager in Address

SEEK LEGISLATION

Local Organization to Cooperate in Securing Better Protection

One of the chief subjects of debate at the noonday meeting of the Merchants' Credit Association held Monday was the suggestion contained in a letter from A. V. Storer, manager of the Pomona Credit association, which called attention to the "bad check" evil in California which is growing worse instead of better, saying "Something is needed. Someone must do it." The effective "bad check" laws of Massachusetts, Ohio and Washington were referred to and the suggestion was made that these laws be adopted by California. The local association was asked to take the matter up with nearby groups and associations and to secure the cooperation of banks and bar associations to see if something cannot be done. In response to this appeal the association went on record as favoring legal enactments which will correct the "bad check" trouble.

The work of the special night patrol was discussed and a committee was appointed to see if it is affording the protection it contracted to give, the committee being William Moore, Dr. H. R. Boyer and R. E. Downing.

The committee on peddlers' licenses asked for more time before submitting a report.

Harry James who recently entered the business fraternity of Glendale, was elected to membership.

NEW DIRECTORS' ELECTION ENDS THIS EVENING

Polling for Board of Chamber of Commerce Closes at 6 o'Clock

The election of directors of the Glendale chamber of commerce for the ensuing year is nearing its close. The polls will close at 6 o'clock tonight. The election committee consisting of P. J. Hayselden, chairman; Dan Kelty, H. L. Finley, W. B. Kelly and L. H. Wilson, will begin counting the votes at 1 o'clock this afternoon, so that the result of the election may be announced at the chamber's open forum tonight. The election this year is proving unusually interesting as all sections of the city are seeking representation on the board.

The forum meeting Monday, which will begin with a dinner at 6:30 o'clock, promises to be one of the most enjoyable affairs of the kind held in Glendale for some time. The principal speaker will be John S. McGroarty, one of the most popular orators in California, and author of the celebrated Mission Play. The musical features for the evening are being arranged for by Harry Girard, "Big Hearted Harry," as he is sometimes called, and one of the most popular musicians in these parts. Harry has gone far out of his way to make the musical part of the program unusually delightful.

A number of features that are of more than ordinary interest, are to come up at this forum, and, altogether, the evening gives promise of being one of unusual interest and enlightenment.

The following list of new members were voted into the chamber at the directors' meeting at noon today:

Pulliam, Kiefer & Eyerick, 305 East Broadway, funeral directors; Glendale Mixed Mortar company, Aviation drive, mixed mortar, sand and gravel; H. C. Mullen, 215 South Pacific avenue, pastor Pacific Avenue M. E. church; A. H. Lankford, 311 East Broadway, fire chief; Conway's Market, 920 South Glendale avenue, groceries and meats; Drs. Giff and Johnston, 221 West Broadway, drugless physicians; Glendale Ladies' Exchange, 225 East Broadway, fancy goods and cooking; Greenleaf Drug company, 200 South Brand, drugs; Page-Stone company Inc., 113 East Broadway, real estate; Atlas Upholstering company, 1517 South San Fernando road, upholstering and repairs.

GLENDALE HOME PROTECTIVE LEAGUE ORGANIZED TO FIGHT ALL ANNEXATION MOVEMENTS

Anti-Annexation Meeting at Glendale High Forms Permanent Organization to Keep City Out of the Hands of Los Angeles Government

OWEN EMERY ELECTED PRESIDENT

Meetings to Be Held Weekly, Starting with Monday Next, for the Purpose of Educating the Annexationists in Facts

With a membership of 500, the Glendale Home Protective League was organized and put $59.37 into its treasury, at the Anti-Annexation meeting held Monday night at the Glendale High School. Owen Emery was elected permanent president; C. D. Gulick, secretary; Harry A. James, treasurer; Judge Lowe, Dr. Russell and Mattison B. Jones, vice-presidents. A publicity and a finance committee are to be named, which together with those elected Monday night are to form the executive committee.

The organization is to be permanent, collect data, fight the present and future attempts of annexationists, by collecting and retaining material.

The meeting was filled with suggestions of peace and earnest labor with the rank and file of the well-meaning annexationists to make them see the error of their way. Suggestions of a debate on the proposition were voted down on the declaration by Judge Lowe that he was unwilling to pay for light and hall rent and collect an audience to hear them.

The meeting was called to order by Judge Lowe. He described how some years ago when the last annexation attempt was made on Glendale, data had been collected but the invitation to align with other similarly assailed communities for a permanent organization of defense against the greater city was not accepted. The records had scattered since.

He urged permanency, collection of data against annexation to be kept up to date as well as data for autonomy.

He declared that in calling the meeting he was aware of the fact that he was connected with the city administration, would be promulgated as argument by the annexationists. But he stressed the point that he spoke as a citizen of Glendale since 1913, that for more than fifty years he had made a living without the aid of any administration, and he expected to repeat the performance after he went out of office.

On motion of A. T. Cowan, Owen Emery was made temporary chairman and Mr. C. D. Gulick, secretary on motion of Judge Lowe.

The meeting proceeded to organization with the suggested name of Glendale Anti-Annexation and Home Protective association.

H. M. Butts, John C. Sherer, Mrs. Charles Rudel, C. E. Case, Herman Nelson, Steve Packer and Lloyd Wilson were appointed to organize.

While they were in session, Judge Lowe told of fighting Los Angeles for 22 years.

"Los Angeles," he declared, "has an annexation organization of four or five members which issues the propaganda. It has a fund for the purpose."

He related that in the fight in Tropico, $3500 was used by Los Angeles in a pool of printers' ink that almost drowned the annexationists.

He recalled the fight of Hollywood against annexation, and told of the "flop" of one leader of the anti-forces, who was subsequently asked how much he got for his action in swinging the city.

What Los Angeles would do for Glendale, he said, was indicated by its actions in the bus scheme, and he discussed the annexationist propaganda in the Los Angeles papers, the untruth of which was apparent to everyone in Glendale.

"They said they would get 10,000 names by Tuesday," he said; "there are only 9,872 registered voters in the district. How could they get 10,000 names with even the five hundred in this room? The annexationists know they are whipped right now to a standstill, but they will force to an election and the expense anyway.

Mr. Keenan described the horrors of Van Nuys in detail.

"Van Nuys got what it wanted most," he said, "irrigation water, but to make it fit for domestic consumption, last Sunday they dumped 14 tons of blue vitrol into the reservoir. The tax rate is $4.81. Here it is $4.52. Who said lower tax rates?

"The principal streets are in a deplorable condition, half a foot in silt. The roads are frightful. Where the P. E. tore up its tracks, no paving has been done. Los Angeles wants Van Nuys to build a dam. It says it is impossible to use the flood control fund until the dam is built. It will cost $1,000,000 for a dam and of that Van Nuys would pay $700,000."

The organization committee reported its organization, three vice presidents, and two committees of five for finance and publicity, and seven additional, the whole to form the executive committee.

After three nominations for treasurer, Mr. Vesper, Mr. Sherer and Mr. James, the latter was elected unanimously, Mr. Vesper pleading business reasons, and Mr. Scherer, pointing out his connection with the city as dangerous to the organization. Mr. Scherer was supported in his attitude by E. U. Emery, who outlined Mr. Sherer's position fully, according to Mr. Sherer.

Mr. James, accepting the office, requested that money be brought to his place of business. He suggested a nickel collection to fund printing.

"This is too big a matter for nickel contributions," said Lloyd Wilson, "we love Glendale more than that. I will open the contributions with $25."

While the hat was being passed, Dr. Russell spoke at some length on the necessity for immediate action for the campaign now on.

Mr. Charles Rudel favored a form of impersonal fact-laden consideration to win the annexationists over. He deplored wrangling on the subject.

Col. Everington said he had observed Mr. Usilton's committee before the Los Angeles city council on annexation.

"Later, I asked Mr. Criswell, who is a good friend of mine, what the promises of the Los Angeles council amounted to," said the colonel; "he said, 'not worth the paper they are written on.'"

The date of the next meeting was discussed by W. F. Tower, Mr. Streit and others. It was urged that the opposition be invited to attend the appointment of a get together committee and a debate.

Judge Lowe protested against furnishing the opposition an audience and paying for lights for their propaganda.

Captain T. D. Watson reported the hall auditorium engaged for every Monday in December, excepting next Monday night. It was voted to have the next meeting on Monday and then fix a regular date for other meetings.

CLERK FRUSTRATES EFFORT TO ROB STORE

An attempt of three gypsies, two women and a man, to get away with money from the cash register of the Nash haberdashery, 1728 S. San Fernando road, Glendale, was frustrated Monday by the quick action of the saleslady of that establishment.

The three gypsies entered the store and one of them asked the saleslady if she could change a nickle. She responded that she could and went to the register to get the money. One of the women followed her closely and when she opened the drawer the gypsy tried to take some of the money from the register. Noticing the action of the stranger the saleslady quickly closed the drawer and ordered the gypsies from the store.

About a half hour later the incident was reported to the Glendale police, but when the officers arrived on the scene the gypsies had disappeared.

JESUS WILL COME AGAIN SAID PASTOR

New Testament Plainly So Teaches, But No One Knows When

"BE YE ALWAYS READY"

Stirring Sermon on This Vital Theme Last Night at Christian Church

By O. L. KILBORN

Perhaps no subject in the realm of religious research has called for more thought and comment than "The Second Coming of Christ," which Rev. Cole talked about last night at the Christian church. He read a portion of the 24th chapter of Matthew in which the destruction of Jerusalem and the final end of all things earthly is foretold, then referred to Jesus' statement as recorded by John in the 14th chapter: "I will surely come again." As to the manner and time of this second coming, these are positively set forth in the first chapter of Acts, where the angels said to the awe-struck disciples who witnessed Jesus' ascent into heaven: "This same Jesus whom you have just seen ascend into heaven shall return in like manner;" and in Jesus' statement to the disciples, who had asked when He should come again: "It is not for you to know the times and seasons, which are in the Father's hands." And He said on another occasion, "Not even the angels in heaven know the time." So it is practically denying God's truth for men to set the time and place for the second appearance, which has been done more than once in the last 80 years. The failures of these prophecies given forth so glibly and positively by presumptuous men breeds additional skepticism among unbelievers. The speaker said he would spend no time in profitless discussion of pre-millenial and post-millenial theories, for these have no bearing on the great question. The one thing all should do is to be prepared at all times for the coming of the Lord, which may be in this century and may be put off for thousands of years. There are 214 references to this second coming in the New Testament, so it is a most important subject. But most of these references admonish all to watch continually and to be always ready.

The music was most inspiring, Mrs. Conner's solo especially. These song services preceding all the meetings are most enjoyable and people join in the singing who never did before.

Tonight the women and girls will be honored by occupancy of the center section. Each person who attends tonight is asked to wear a flower—a white one if mother is dead, a colored one if she is still living. The sermon topic will be "The Conversion of a Business Woman." It will be a worthwhile sermon.

The subject tomorrow night will be "Christianity's Greatest Convert," and it should be heard by everyone who is putting off yielding to Christ. This man had the promise of a most brilliant earthly career which would have brought him undying fame as the world bestows fame and honor, but he chose instead a life of suffering and trial to be with Christ.

Boys, remember the bottles.

COMMUNITY CHEST ADOPTED AT THE SERVICE MEET

Directors of Organization Meet, Pass on Reports, Adopt Constitution

The board of directors of Glendale Community Service met Monday night at Glendale Union High school and adopted a general policy for the work in Glendale, and passed on reports of various committees, including social and physical recreation, music, program, etc. V. M. Hollister, president of Glendale Community Service, was in charge. Important features endorsed at the meeting included the Community Christmas program which was endorsed on motion of C. C. Cooper, seconded by T. D. Watson, and also the Community Chest for financing the organization, which was endorsed on motion of A. R. Eastman, seconded by Jesse Smith.

Mr. Smith reported that inasmuch as the agreement with the national organization of Community Service was that the citizens of Glendale would raise funds to carry on a year's program in Glendale within three months from the time that Don Orput first arrived here, it would be necessary to take immediate steps in financing, and that action was necessary regarding whether the community service would back the community chest campaign. It was decided that it would be for the best interests of Glendale to cooperate in putting over a community chest.

Dr. Jessie Russell, chairman of the organization committee of Glendale Community Service, reported and presented a constitution and by-laws, which were adopted. A splendid report was given by Mrs. Charles H. Toll, chairman of the education committee. She asked that funds be given to carry on such details in connection with her work.

The directors were amazed at the progress given in detail in the report of Captain T. D. Watson, chairman of the social and physical recreation committee. L. T. Rowley, chairman of the membership committee, reported that the city had agreed to light the tennis courts at the high school. These courts will be open primarily for adults use in the evening. Through the courtesy of Roberts & Echols, A. R. Eastman has secured the use of the room at 108 South Brand boulevard for temporary headquarters of Glendale Community Service. J. A. Newton of Newton's Electric Co., offered the use of a heater. H. Schumaker of 109 South Brand boulevard, offered a typewriter. Mr. Orput stated that Mrs. H. J. Troth, formerly a volunteer Community Service worker of Yakima, Washington, and in Glendale, volunteered stenographic help.

Mrs. W. Q. Widdows gave a short summary of the music plans which will supplement the Community Service Christmas celebration. Tableaus of various carols are to be put on by a number of the churches. Harry Girard was the first to volunteer the pageanting of a carol, which promises to be something unique.

Richardson D. White was left in charge of the board of directors meeting while the executive committee adjourned to transact other business, which included the matter of voting to have the ways and means committee, headed by Jesse Smith, get Community Service underwritten for $1,500 to carry on the work until after the holidays or until the Community Service drive would be put over or the Community chest drive would be completed, which would take care of Community Service. At the executive committee meeting a request also went forward to obtain Alexander Stewart, music organizer of the Pacific Coast for Community Service, to help in the promotion of the Christmas music in Glendale between the dates of December 5 and 11, which will culminate in a community sing on December 11, place to be announced later.

Merle Budd, son of Mrs. A. H. Montgomery of 415 South Central avenue, returned to Glendale Monday night from Santa Barbara for a two weeks' visit.

HOTEL PLANS LAID BEFORE BUILDERS

Three Rival Concerns Attend Meeting of the Project Committee

TREMAINE IS HOPEFUL

Milwaukee Construction Co. to Be Heard This Afternoon

Representatives of three different construction companies, eager to secure the contract for the construction of the hotel at the corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway, met with the hotel committee of the Glendale Advancement association Monday morning. Each of these representatives gave evidence of his company being able financially and otherwise to carry out its end of the agreement in the event his concern is awarded the contract for the erection of the proposed structure.

At this session two additional committees were appointed. These were as follows:

Construction committee: C. W. Ingledue, R. M. Brown and C. F. Stewart.

Finance committee: H. L. Finley, W. L. Truitt and F. W. McIntyre.

Mr. Whitney, representing Mr. Tremain of Los Angeles, was also in Glendale Monday. Mr. Whitney, it is understood, is still hopeful of being able to "put over" the original proposition for the hotel.

The association's hotel committee will hold a meeting this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock with the representatives of the Milwaukee Construction company of Los Angeles. The outcome of this session may be of unusual interest to the people of Glendale.

MAN AND WIFE ARE ARRESTED FOR BAD CHECKS

Charged with Issuing Without Having Sufficient Funds

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Taylor, 1141 Stanley avenue, were arrested Monday, on allegations of issuing checks without having funds in the bank to meet them, according to the records of the Glendale police department. The checks, it is claimed, were made out to Mrs. George Kidd, of Pasadena, and were drawn on the Glendale State Bank. Two checks, each for $25, were issued, it is stated.

On account of ill health Mrs. Taylor was permitted to remain in her home, but Mr. Taylor, because of inability to furnish $300 bail, was placed in Jail No. 2, pending his preliminary hearing.

United Churches Thanksgiving Service

The annual united Thanksgiving services of the churches of Glendale will be held Thursday morning at 10 o'clock at Central Christian church. Rev. Louis Tinning, president of the Glendale Ministerial association will preside and Rev. James F. Winnard of Tropico Presbyterian church will preach the sermon.

The Federated Brotherhood will have part in the service and are planning some special features which will greatly add to the interest of the occasion. One of them will be to have the auditorium placarded by states so that all may sit in the place marked for the state from which they came.

PROGRESS SHOWN IN REPORTS OF SERVICE

Reception of Home Folks Get-together Idea Is Encouraging

The progress and reception with which community service is being met with in Glendale was most effectively demonstrated in the reports of Mrs. Charles H. Toll, chairman of education, and Captain Thomas D. Watson, chairman of social and physical recreation, given at the meeting of the board of directors of Glendale Community Service at Glendale union high school Monday night.

Mrs. Toll told of going before various people in Glendale and securing their hearty co-operation. As a result of her work she stated that she had secured Mr. Baker as chairman of the mimeographing and typewriting committee; Frank H. Pilling, chairman of window display committee; representative of the high school "Explosion," of the Glendale Pictorial Weekly and A. T. Cowan for the newspaper and periodical publicity, and William Howe of the Glendale theater for theater publicity. Mr. Howe was very enthusiastic and stated to Mrs. Toll that he would consent to use slides and other methods to promote Community Service work. She stated that Normal Hayhurst as chairman of P. T. A. publicity, has already been functioning in that capacity. In her remarks Mrs. Toll reported that everywhere she was being met with a spirit of cooperation.

The report of Capt. Thomas D. Watson, chairman of the social and physical recreation committee, follows:

"As chairman of the social and physical recreation committee I have the following to report: Among other activities our plans include the formation of both indoor baseball and basketball leagues among the clubs, the churches and the commercial houses. As a start towards this end we have three teams entered for indoor baseball in the commercial league, with prospects of more, although this will probably be our hardest problem, on account of the lack of employers of employes in large numbers. To offset this we thought it might be a good plan to modify the rules so that players could be taken from other commercial houses, so long as the one under whose name they played would have a majority of the players in their employ.

"In line with this a game of indoor baseball was played between a team of Jesse Smith's employes and one representing the Sport Shop last Friday night, November 24.

"The Glendale church school basketball league, although all of the initial organization problems were handled by Rex C. Kelley, will be handled under the auspices of Community Service. The first game in this league will be played on December 4. This league consists of six teams at present. Another league among the smaller boys is now being formed. Also a meeting is being held tonight to consider the formation of a girls' church league, either for volley ball or indoor baseball.

"Among the clubs, the following have signified their willingness to furnish one or more teams: Rotary, Kiwanis, National Exchange and American Legion. Other clubs are still to be heard from. These clubs have also voted their hearty support.

"Our organization plans for our leagues are perfected. A representative from each organization and the chairman of each group being one of the high school physical training directors: Messrs. Hayhurst, Butterfield and Wolf. At each game one of these will be present to aid in the instruction, preserve discipline and probably referee. These three will also form a committee to draft the rules.

"As regards the social recreation end, this has been handled in a very efficient way by Miss Roberta Winans, who was sent here by National Community Service. Her first meeting was held at the chamber of commerce. It was only a preliminary conference meeting to consider plans and distribute invitations for the community party for Monday, November 20. This was held in the girls' gymnasium at the high school and proved to be quite a successful gathering, with 75 grown-ups being present. Miss Winans kept them busy every minute and demonstrated her ability as a leader in the work.

"On last Friday she held her first institute, which was attended by forty, none of whom to speak of were from the younger set.

"The purpose of this institute is to instruct local people to become leaders in the social recreation work so that when Miss Winans leaves Glendale the work may be continued. Those who take her course are given a certificate of merit which ought to be very acceptable.

"Also during the past week Miss Winans has been assisting in programs at the Pacific avenue P. T. A., Reading Circle and National Exchange club. She is holding an institute tonight downstairs in the gymnasium. Tomorrow between 12 o'clock and 1 she will talk to the high school students to interest them in forming an institute for those of high school age.

"How's that?" said his friend.

"Why, I went out with two other fellows fishing, and one of them suggested that the first man who caught a fish was to treat the rest.

"We all agreed to this—and started. Now both of those fellows had bites and were too mean to pull the fish up!"

"I suppose you lost, then?" said the friend.

"Oh, no," replied the other. "I didn't have and bait on my hook."

MRS. L. H. KNIGHT WINS PENDROY'S PUMPKIN PRIZE

Guesses Exact Number of Seeds in Mammoth Pie Fruit in Window

Mrs. L. H. Knight of 518 Palm Drive is the winner of the $30 table linen set given away by Pendroy's for guessing the correct number of seeds in the large pumpkin that has been on display in their window for several weeks. Mrs. Knight guessed 687 seeds which was exactly the number in the pumpkin.

Anna L. Brandt of 137 South Adams street guessed 685 seeds and Nellie Hemphill, 689 seeds. These were the two nearest guesses to the correct one.

D. G. Cowlin cut the pumpkin at 10 o'clock this morning and was assisted in counting the seeds by three judges, Miss Ruth Ryan, J. A. Newton and Robert Cowan. The seeds were set aside in piles of 10 each, and later recounted to make sure of no errors.

The slips containing the names, addresses and number of seeds guessed by each contestant, were all separated in boxes. The first box contained numbers ranging from 1 to 100, the next from 100 to 200 and so on. The box containing the 600 numbers was opened and each slip carefully examined. It was found that Mrs. Knight's slip was the winner.

Some of the contestants even guessed a seedless pumpkin, while one lady guessed 50,000. The lowest number guessed was 13. Mrs. Knight's guess was entered on November 11.

This beautiful all-linen table set will be delivered to Mrs. Knight today and she will doubtless enjoy her Thanksgiving dinner more by arraying her table with this beautiful prize.

WEDNESDAY CLUB TO POSTPONE MEETING

The Wednesday club will not meet this Wednesday due to Thanksgiving coming this week. Mrs. H. Lee Clotworthy of 552 West Elk avenue will entertain the club on Wednesday, December 6.

MRS. LELA BUCKHAM GIVES CHARMING RECITAL

A decidedly pleasing and profitable recital was given Saturday afternoon by the piano pupils of Mrs. Lela Buckham, at her home studio, 332 West Lexington drive.

During the first part of the program, Mrs. Buckham presented in an attractive manner the history of Handel, one of the great composers, who is of especial interest at this time, because of his Christmas composition, "The Messiah." Pictures were used for illustration.

The hearty enthusiasm of the pupils in the blackboard drills, and theory tests proved that this kind of work is most valuable to piano students.

The second part consisted of instrumental numbers given by the pupils. Delicious refreshments were served, which were suggestive of the Thanksgiving season.

MRS. KENNEDY MARKS DAUGHTER'S BIRTHDAY

Mrs. E. S. Kenendy, 3348 Atwater avenue, entertained sixteen little girls in honor of her daughter Remonda's sixth birthday.

The afternoon was spent in playing games after which a luncheon of ice cream, cake, wafers and candy was served.

An enjoyable time was spent by all, each one wanting to come back again next year.

Remonda received many pretty gifts from her little friends.

HI-Y BOYS VISIT PASADENA CLUB

The members of the Hi Y club under the leadership of W. G. Boyd, met Monday night with the Pasadena Hi-Y club at Pasadena. After their business session they enjoyed a swim in the plunge at the Y. M. C. A. building.

MONTGOMERYS CELEBRATE THANKSGIVING HOLIDAYS

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Montgomery of 415 South Central avenue celebrated the Thanksgiving season with a dinner party at their home Sunday. Those present included Mrs. Montgomery's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robert Hurst and baby, Betty Jane of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Enking and son, Billy of Glendale, Master Billy Bennett of Santa Barbara, Stanton Montgomery, Mrs. M. J. Hanna and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Montgomery of Glendale.

RO-DAIRE CLUB HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

The regular meeting of the Ro-Daire Club was held Monday evening in the home of Miss Angeline Smits, 410 W. Colorado.

After an evening of sewing the members enjoyed the dainty refreshments prepared by the hostess.

Mrs. Jack Connelly will entertain the club December 6th.

Baraca Boys of Methodist Church Give Entertainment

The Baraca Boys of the First Methodist church entertained Monday night with a party for the Philathea girls at the home of Earl Kellar, 3 Glenada avenue, Montrose.

The guests numbering 56, all met at the church and motored to Mr. Kellar's home. They found the house artistically arrayed in Thanksgiving colors.

As an introductory game, the boys lined up on one side of the room and the girls on the other. Each had to say his or name and then spell it backwards. Quite a number of other games were also enjoyed, among them an aeroplane ride. The guests were blindfolded and one at a time they stood on a table board, which was slowly raised a few inches into the air and then told to jump off. The sensation is one of jumping off into a great open space.

The boys were blindfolded next and made to go down a "matrimonial" path which proved very "rough." This caused much merriment.

Miss Anderson and Elwood Ingledue received the prize for locating a "mysterious" couple. At the close of the evening delicious turkey sandwiches, potato chips, olives, pickles and coffee were served. Cecil Percey, Charlie Rich and Mr. Dick were in charge of the refreshments and entertainment.

BIBLE SECTION OF TUESDAY CLUB MEETS

The Bible Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club met Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. R. K. Snow, 609 North Maryland avenue.

The subject of the lecture given by the teacher of the section, Mrs. Johnson, was "The Creation."

The next meeting will be held the third Monday in December at the home of Mrs. E. D. Yard, 646 North Jackson street.

PARLIAMENTARY LAW SECTION HAS MEETING

A joint meeting of the members of the parliamentary law section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. C. A. Brandstater is curator, and of the legislative section of the club, of which Mrs. B. O. Holbrook is curator, was held Monday afternoon at the home of the latter, 426 West Harvard street. After a short business session, at which time they appointed as members of a finance committee Mrs. Homer Lockwood, Miss Eva Daniels, Mrs. H. Macdonald and Mrs. M. Brown, a parliamentary law drill was led by Mrs. John Robert White. At the close of the afternoon refreshments were served.

It was decided that at one meeting a month Mrs. P. S. McNutt would take charge of the parliamentary law drill and the second meeting would be given over to the parliamentary law and legislative departments. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Miss Eva Daniels, 324 West Colorado street on December 11.

CARPENTERS AND LABEL LEAGUERS HAVE DANCE

Members of the local Carpenters' Union and the affiliated women's organization, the Union Label league, had a jolly dance at K. of P. hall, Monday night, attended by about 75 couples. It was a benefit for the treasuries of the two unions and netted $60 or more, the receipts from the dance being augmented by a supper served by the league, and a turkey raffle which followed the dance program.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETS

An all-day meeting of the executive board of the Tuesday Afternoon club was held at the home of Mrs. C. W. Houston on Myrtle avenue Monday at which estimates of the probable cost of furnishings for the new club house, and the budget to be allowed for that purpose were thoroughly canvassed and discussed.

Announcement was made of the special called meeting of the chairmen of all committees to be held Tuesday evening of next week when the results of the figuring done by the board on the cost of furnishings will be submitted for discussion and committees will be asked to state what proportion of the cost they will undertake to raise.

Elmer Elliott, the contractor, has told the officers he will be prepared to turn over the building in the rough to the club some time in January.

On account of illness three members of the board were unable to be present, viz: Mrs. Andrew Findlay, Mrs. John Dunn and Mrs. J. T. Crampton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hunt and daughter, Lole Hunt of 205 East Acacia avenue motored to Ocean Park Sunday, where they were the guest sof Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Feinstein of Glendale, who have been spending two months at the beach city.

250 MILE RACE CLASSIC

FAMOUS FAST CARS WILL FLASH ON SPEEDWAY

Thanksgiving Day Speed Classic to Challenge World Records

LOS ANGELES SPEEDWAY, November 28.—When Starter Fred J. Wagner drops the starting flag on the local speedway here Thursday afternoon for the closing speed classic of the 1922 racing season, twenty of the fastest motor cars in the world will flash past the grand stand to thunder through 250 miles of thrill for the greatest crowd that has ever witnessed an automobile race in the west.

Beneath the dense fumes of castor smoke will be proclaimed a new world's speedway champion who will have earned his title by the most daring drive that man has ever made over a like distance.

It's fast company that this Turkey Day affair, is catering to. Before the race will ever start, each car with which the driver hopes to help split the $25,000 purse put up, will have to measure up to the standard of 105 miles an hour; even then the competition will call for a speed greater than any record ever set for 250 miles on any speedway.

The practice laps that have crowded the last few weeks full of interest for the followers of the sport have shown Jimmy Murphy, uncrowned speed king of the year, travelling at a speed of better than 125 miles an hour and a fifth of a second faster than the record set by Tommy Milton in practice; and practically every other driver entered has come close enough to those marks to make the competition the keenest in the sport.

Several new drivers, noted for their reckless and daring tactics in other parts of the country, will make their initial debut before the record-breaking crowd at the coming speed fest. Included in these are Earl Cooper, who is making his first appearance at the wheel of a racing car on the local track, and Cliff Durant, at the head of the five-car Durant racing team. Other new faces to be seen are those of Arthur Hillis, dirt track champion sent here by Louis Chevrolet to pilot the fast little Frontenac; Louis Hansen, Jr., of San Francisco, with his own DeLage Duesenberg Special; Leon Duray, French pilot, noted for his driving ability; Herschel McKee, aviation and speed bug, who has been riding with Frank Elliott, also entered with his Leach Special; Bobby Dunn, a Chicago speed fiend with a DeLage Special, and Wade Norton, Indianapolis pilot, who has shown remarkably fast time in the trials with one of the new Duesenberg straighteights entered by the factory.

TROPICO REVIVAL DRAWS AUDIENCE WITH THOUGHT

Fine crowds fill the Tropico Presbyterian church each night at the big revival with Evangelists Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Dunlop of Chicago in charge. This week promised to be a fitting climax to this successful work.

"Your life is against Christ, for He says 'He that is not for me is against me,'" said the speaker, Dr. Dunlop. "You cannot serve God and the devil at the same time. You cannot have one foot in the church and the other under a card table. Christ is no compromiser for you are either for Him or your life is against Him. You try to fool yourself by thinking because you have a few benevolent thoughts about the church and Christ that you are a Christian and saved. If you are not a member of the church and working at it you are against your mother's God. You are against your wife's religion if you have never confessed Christ and gone into the church with her. Jesus said, 'He that is not with me is against me.' The devil is a great compromiser and he says: 'Get good by degrees; give up some sins but not all; just hold on to that pet sin and it will damn your soul.' You cannot at the same time be fruthful and a liar; pure and impure; honest and dishonest; saved and lost. Yet many people are one or more of these and think they are saved. You are either on the road to heaven or hell, which? Get right with God now; tomorrow will be too late. Come to Jesus, the friend of sinners, confess and forsake every sin and find forgiveness and salvation."

Tonight's theme will be the most interesting one, "Wilt Thou Be Made Whole?" Dr. and Mrs. Dunlop will sing "The Great Judgment Morn." 7:30 to 8:30 prompt.

Margaret L. O'Brien, secretary of the Domestic Servants' League, said in an address in Chicago: "If a servant is a hard worker she has a right to brag about it. The thing, however, can't be carried too far. A missionary in India was waited upon by a stately Indian, an applicant for a position as cook. The interview was satisfactory and the missionary said at the end: "I guess I'll engage you. By the way, though, what is your religion?".

"'Beg pardon, sar' said the man, 'I am heathen.'

"'Heathen,' said the missionary; 'what do you mean by that?'

"'Beg pardon, sar. I am worshipper of sticks and stones.'

"'My gracious,' exclaimed the missionary, 'I don't believe I can employ such a character as that."

"'Beg pardon, sar,' said the Indian, 'for thy dear sake work so dam hard no time to worship anything.'"

BROOKS E. MILLER

OFFERS HIS

BEMCO Oil Syndicate No. 1

To the Investing Public

1250 UNITS AT $100 EACH

Our lease is located in the same city block in Bixby Heights as the much talked of "HERWICK 7," on the Northwest Extension of the GREAT Signal Hill Oil Field.

BEMCO No. 1 is located 350 feet Northwest of the "HERWICK 7." This location is undoubtedly one of the most promising that I have ever seen in the SIGNAL HILL Field, due to the fact that it is so close to the "HERWICK 7," which has gushed about several times in the last three weeks, and to such an extent that the oil has run down the middle of the street to American Avenue, two blocks away.

In my opinion it will pay you to visit and thoroughly investigate this GREAT opportunity to make big money on a small investment.

The Capitalization of this Syndicate is one of the lowest ever offered to the California investors, to participate in 50 per cent of ALL the oil produced from the BEMCO Syndicate No. 1 lease.

YOU know that when a man proves to YOU in front of YOUR OWN eyes the merits of this BIG opportunity and you do not invest, YOU are not entitled to the profits; therefore we do not hesitate in stating that the EARLY investor will enjoy the BIG profits that you can figure with your own lead pencil in this big opportunity.

YOUR early investigation of this proposition will prove profitable to YOU, therefore I advise you to investigate and place YOUR order early, either by mail, telephone, or come in and meet me personally.

244 TURKEYS WON IN GREAT EVENT AT THE ELKS

Arthur Dibbern Is Only One Who Failed to Win a Bird

The annual turkey raffle at the Glendale Elks' Lodge which followed the regular session Monday night was the biggest success of its kind, 244 birds being won by contestants. Arthur Dibbern says he was about the only one who failed to win. In the neighborhood of $300 was realized for the lodge's charity fund.

Arrangements were perfected for the pilgrimage to be made Wednesday to Riverside by officers and members to dedicate the flag of the Riverside lodge and initiate a large class. The delegation will number about 100 and include the 31-piece orchestra of the Glendale organization. It will leave this city at 3 p. m., in a special car provided by the P. E. Railroad which will also bring members back that night. Those who are unable to leave from here will be picked up in Los Angeles enroute.

MRS. VAUGHN IS THE SPEAKER AT THE WILSON SCHOOL

Mrs. Kate B. Vaughn of the Los Angeles Express was the principal speaker at the meeting Monday afternoon of the members of the Wilson Avenue Intermediate Parent-Teacher association, her topic being "Nutrition," in which she dealt particularly on the proper foods for growing boys and girls of school age.

The meeting, which was attended by fifty mothers and teachers, was opened with the flag salute, led by Mrs. Pierson Hanning. This was followed by a short business session in charge of the president, Mrs. R. C. Horner. Mrs. H. Thimm, membership chairman, reported a total membership of 223. Mrs. Hanning, chairman of the finance committee, stated that $25 was cleared at the candy sale held at the school by the B8 mothers on Friday. This money is to be used towards furnishing a reception room at the Wilson Avenue school.

Mrs. J. F. Torrey, chairman of education, read President Harding's proclamation regarding Education Week, which is to be nationally observed next week, and in this connection Miss Carrie Noble, principal of the school, stated that it was hoped that during education week all of the mothers would visit the school. She also said that the presidents and officers of the Parent-Teacher associations are being asked to come to their schools on December 7 and act as hostesses for the visitors on that day, escorting them to the various class rooms. Regular sessions are to be run in every school in Glendale on that day.

The room count showed that both the B7-3 and B8-4 rooms were represented at the meeting by eight mothers, and it was moved that each of these grades be treated to pop corn balls. A motion also prevailed that in the future the room count be on a percentage basis. As the December meeting of the association would fall on Christmas day, it was decided to eliminate the December meeting. Mrs. Horner asked that the members of the association sign the chaperonage pledges which have been prepared by the juvenile court committee of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher associations.

In her talk on "Nutrition" Mrs. Vaughn stated that the matter of feeding is so closely allied with the disposition of the child that it should be an incentive to mothers to learn just what to feed their children. "Nearly 4000 children attend schools in Los Angeles county without breakfast every morning of the week, either because their mother is too ignorant, too lazy, too poor, or a combination of these three. This is what brings the scholarship of the school down to the low average of today. The amount of money spent on the table has nothing to do with the amount of energy, or brain and brawn, that the children derive from their food. They eat too much sweets, and then do not have an appetite for common food, like milk, cabbage, carrots, beans, spinach, etc. The most important foods to the growing boy or girl are the protein foods, which means fish, eggs, meat and milk, which are converted into tissue and muscle. If every child in this school drank a quart of milk a day you would find that the scholarship average would immediately increase."

At the close of her talk Mrs. Vaughn answered various questions regarding different foods and their values. At the close of the meeting the courtesy committee served tea and wafers.

THE OLD FASHIONED BARN DANCE IS SUCCESS

The old time barn dance given by the Business and Professional Women's Club at the Chamber of Commerce Monday evening was a joyfest for all concerned but particularly for the middle aged who renewed their youth and had a real frolic tripping the measures of the quadrilles and the old steps never seen on ball room floors of the modern generation.

Not many couples had the courage of their remembrance when the heel and toe polka and the schottische were announced but there were enough to demonstrate the beauty and grace of the old dances and young people were seen watching with curiosity and envy declaring to each other, "I believe I could do that. How does it go anyway?"

About 200 were present, a goodly proportion on-lookers. It brought out a good many strangers who got acquainted with each other in the free masonry of the square dances where every set forgot and made merry over their mistakes. One gray-haired eastener who was "out here alone" and a stranger, had seen the posters of the dance and bought a ticket. When last seen he was assuring some one of what a fine time he was having.

James Rhoades did yeoman service in calling off and Mr. Meeks, a newcomer from Montana, helped. Mr. Sanders led the grand march with Mrs. Elsie Williams, chairman of the social committee of the club and director of the dance.

Mrs. Peggy Warner, assisted by Miss Stevens, received the tickets at the door and Dr. Laura Brown, president of the club, circulated among the guests introducing them and helping to promote their good time.

Costuming was not universal but there were enough in old-fashioned togs to make the scene picturesque. The next time they will do much btter. There were many calls for a "next time," one man who was enjoying himself thoroughly querying, "Why don't you have one every week?" Mrs. Williams was in a long skirted lace gown of ancient fashion, and wore red roses in her hair. Mrs. Anita Anderson wore a gem of a ballroom gown, of lavender silk cut entrain and decolite which she said was sixty years old, and she was quite the belle of the ball. Mrs. George H. Warren wore a long skirted striped pattern silk gown made snugly fitting in basque and skirt, on her head a lace cap suggestive of the time of Elizabeth which was given her by an English singer with a beautiful voice who often sank bebefore King Edward when he was Prince of Wales.

Ethel Parsons won distinction in a hooped gown of black satin trimmed with bands of blue made short enough to show her pantalettes. Mrs. Fred Walton also wore an old-time gown and hat.

Mrs. Warner attracted attention by a shoulder cape of quaint design said to be more than one hundred years old.

Mrs. Morgan, mother of the Morgan Brothers, was in costume and carried an old-time tissue scarf which had belonged to her grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Harpster were in real barn dance clothes, Mr. H. wearing blue jeans and his wife an old muslin gown.

Mr. Kelley of Kelly's orchestra, who kept the music going was also in farmer guise and seemed to enjoy his part very much.

The party demonstrated how much fun can be had by a return to the old time ways of dancing which are not open to the criticism of the jazz dances of the present day.

Guests at a Thanksgiving dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Peirce at 317 West Vine street tomorrow will include Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Waite, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Peirce, Fred Lulz, Francis Fisher of Los Angeles, and George Thielman of Los Angeles.

COMMUNITY PLAY ATTRACTS MANY TO INSTITUTE

Despite the fact that numerous other attractions in Glendale Monday night drew a large number of those who have been attending the Community Service Institute which is conducted under the direction of Miss Roberta Winans, yet what was lacking in numbers was made up in enthusiasm at the meeting held in the high school and attended by twenty volunteer leaders in social and physical recreation.

The time was spent in various tricks and stunts used in getting parties started, get acquainted games, guessing contests, musical games, etc. During the evening various members were called on to have charge of putting on some game which had been given at a previous meeting. The other members attending then offered constructive criticism as to the method of presentation, etc. These meetings are being held from 7:30 o'clock until 9 every Monday and Friday night and are open to representatives from all organizations in Glendale. Those present last night included Mrs. Pauline McDowell, Mary L. Circle, Mrs. St. Clair Whytock, Mrs. J. H. Hunt, Muriel Wilson, James H. Woods, Mrs. Mae Rosenberg, J. R. Langton, Mrs. C. J. Orff, Mrs. Dora Langton, Mrs. H. H. Dryer, Mrs. M. D. Longley, C. C. Larson, Mrs. L. Aichholz, Mrs. Alice Frank James, Mrs. Harriett Frank, Roy B. Coeur, Mrs. C. J. Tuttle and David Dryer.

THE ENGAGEMENT OF MISS BUTLER IS ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hiester of 310 West Fifty-fifth street, Los Angeles, entertained Sunday evening with a luncheon announcing the engagement of Miss Helen B. Butler of 130 West Thirtieth street, Los Angeles and H. P. Midcalf of 214 East Garfield avenue, Glendale.

Places were marked by dainty placecards of cupids tinging the wedding bell and ribbon streamers ran from various points throughout the rooms to each place where the secret was revealed. The wedding will take place in January, the exact date not yet set.

Miss Butler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Butler of Los Angeles, and she is secretary to C. M. Briggs, traffic manager of the Celite Products company.

Mr. Midcalf is connected with the Southern California Telephone company at Los Angeles. He is a World war veteran, having been in the Rainbow division. He has lived in Glendale for 15 years.

Guests included Miss Butler, Mr. Midcalf, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Redd, Miss Cleo Redd, Miss Alice Finn, Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Haskell, Miss Norma Haskell, Owen Miles, all of Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Midcalf and Mrs. N. B. Spahr of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Feinstein, who have been speding two months at Ocean Park, will return to Glendale this week to their former home at 512 Patterson avenue.

THANKSGIVING

Why Be Thankful in Such a World as This?

There are men and women who are going to ask, when Thanksgiving Day draws near, "Why should I be thankful in such a world as this, where sickness, sorrow and discord abounds?"

Thanksgiving Day was inspired for such as these.

There are men and women who wonder why so much money is gathered together by the few, while the great majority exists on meager wages.

Thanksgiving Day was inspired for such as these.

There are men and women who wonder why loved ones have been taken from them when there are left to live on, many who pray to be taken Yonder.

Thanksgiving Day was inspired for such as these.

There are men and women who withdraw from those who stray an err in passing along the highways of life—they would not mingle with those who yield to temptation and follow the line of least resistance.

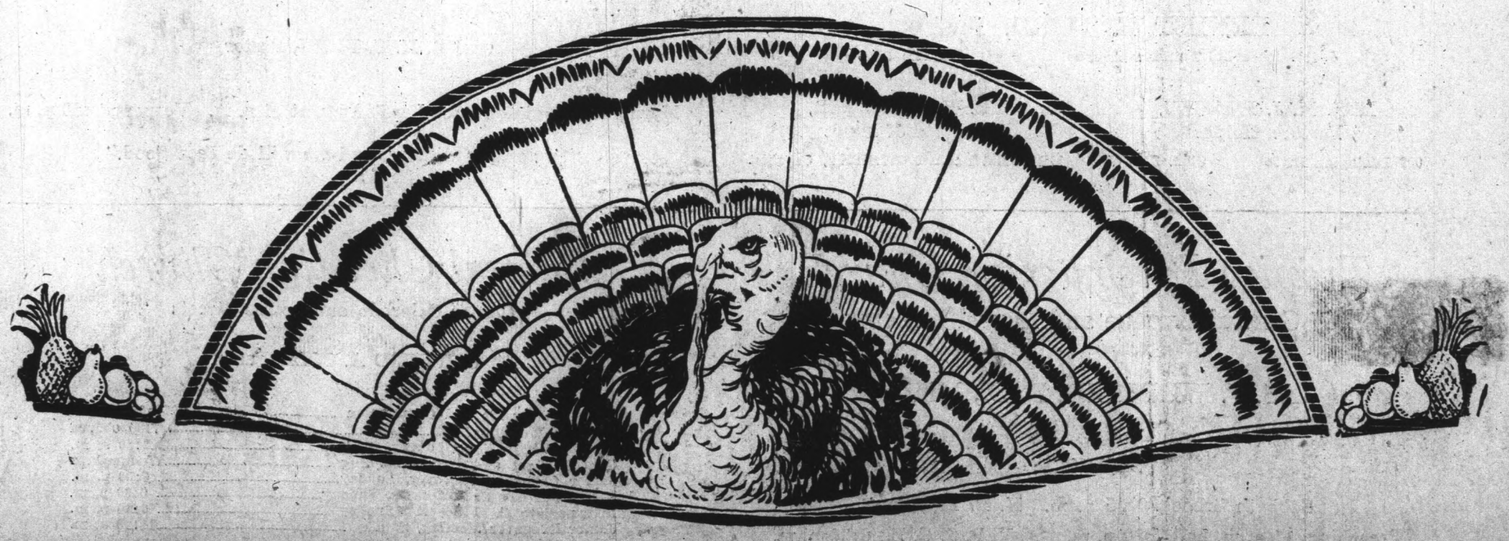
Thanksgiving Day was inspired for such as these.

ON THE BEAUTIFUL ISLE

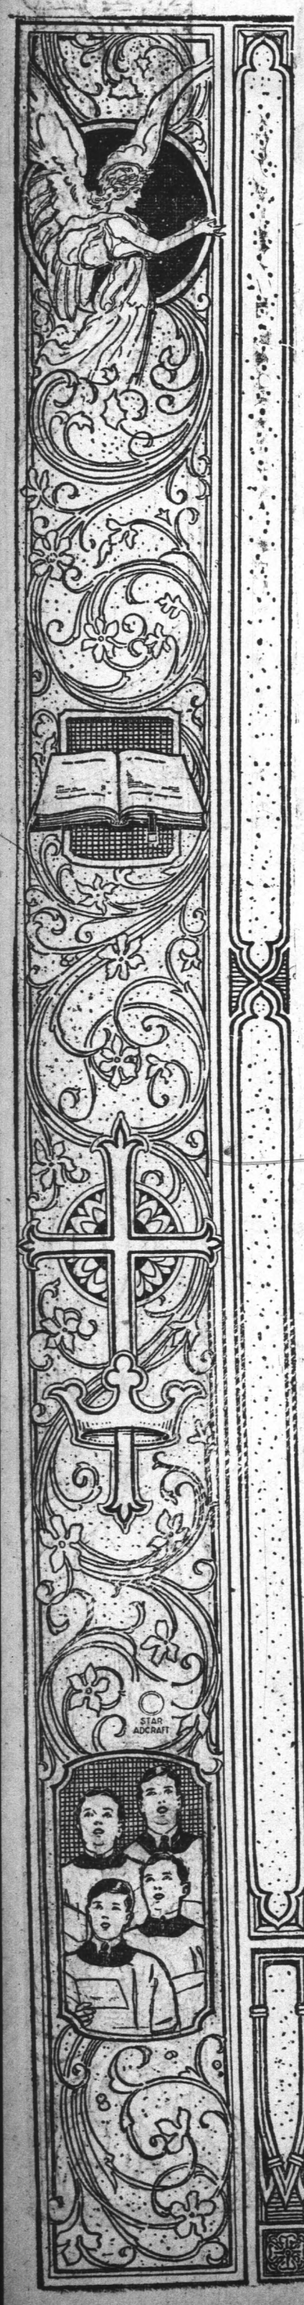
just across the mysterious chasm that joins Life and the thing we call Death the Great Giver of Life equalizes all things. Have an abiding faith in this, and be thankful. Feed on the thought that you have hundreds of reasons for being thankful where others have less. Money does not bring happiness nor contentment. John D. Rockerfeller is not the happiest man in the world, even though he acquires thousands of dollars every day in the year.

The HAPPIEST MAN AND THE HAPPIEST WOMAN is the man or woman who meets each day as it comes, puts more in life than he or she gets out of it. You cannot reap a harvest unless you plant a seed. Being thankful entails only a little solemn thought. The science of thought is beginning to take its place in the world. Thought has brought great things to civilization, and at this moment, great thinkers are making plans to lift the burden of murderous warfare from the shoulders of the world. You and I are of the world. For this, if for nothing more, and there is much more.

LET ALL BE THANKFUL



Your Church needs You
-and You need your Church



NEVER has the individual man and woman needed the power of Christianity more than to-day; never has the Church offered greater rewards to those seeking its blessings. In these troubled times, with industrial strife, ruthless crowding and competition, the soul naturally turns to the one sure solace—the Church. For the Church brings peace and understanding; it points the way to better living, to service, to enduring happiness.

Remember, you do not have to be a church member to get right with God. Christ did not say, "Come unto me all ye church members," but "come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." The churches of Glendale invite you to worship whether or not your name happens to be on their church roll.

By attending divine service and combining your strength with that of other Christians you can help make this a better place to live in and grow in.

Christianity is positive, not negative. Merely to be good is not to be a follower of Christ. A Christian must be good for something. He must help the church take positive action for the cause that needs assistance, for the wrongs that need resistance.

Can you fail to realize how much the Church needs you and how greatly you need the Church? Come, be 'round on Sunday, and you'll be square with God and man throughout the week.

INDIANS DEMAND MILLIONS FOR LAND

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 28.—Formal claim for possession of over 1,500,000 acres of land located in the Panhandle section of Texas will be presented to the Texas legislature, at its next regular session in January, by attorneys for the Texas Cherokee and other kindred bands of Indians.

The huge tract of land involved is one of the richest portions of Texas and is valued at more than $200,000,000.

The land is dotted with thriving villages and is in the heart of one of the richest oil bearing sections in the United States.

The claim to this vast tract is based upon a treaty alleged to have been signed between the Indian tribes and representatives of the existant Republic of Texas, nearly a century ago.

According to the bill which will be introduced, the American colonists of Texas at the end of a disastrous Indian war made overtures to the various Indian tribes to formulate an agreement to govern the delations between the two races in the future.

On February 23, 1836, Colonel Sam Houston and John Forbes, acting as commissioners of the Texas Republic, and a number of chiefs of the Indian tribes met at Colonel Bo[illegible] village and drew up a treaty, which recognized and guaranteed the boundaries of this huge tract upon which the Indians were to rule.

Then, after the bill had been signed and the agreement had been in effect a few years, the Texas Republic began to survey and locate the lands in violation of the act. When the Indians protested this violation of the treaty, they were driven out of the territory by the military forces of the republic, without compensation for their lands, they claim.

A suit for recovery of the lands mentioned in the treaty of 1835 will be held up pending action by the legislature on the claim of the Indians.

The suit will be based upon another agreement which the early pioneers made with the Indians while the State of Texas was still a part of Mexico. The Indians claim that when the Texans established a provisional government and threw off the yoke of Mexico, they made a pact with the Indian tribes of Texas, decreeing that the Indians had a just claim to the lands they were then occupying and signed a pledge renewing the bond of fealty between the two races and establishing the right of the redmen to that tract of land. This was done, the Indians claim, to gain the support to the Indian tribes in th hostilities with Mexico.

Besides the Cherokee Indians, other tribes that are a party to the proposed sit are the Shawnees, Delawares, Choctaws, Kickapoos, Alabamas and several smaller tribes.

The Indians claim they have the right to sue the State of Texas as a successor to the old Republic of Texas.

WHITE PINE RUST CONFERENCE NOW MEETING

PORTLAND, ORE., Nov. 25.—The third white pine blister rust conference which was formally opened here Nov. 22 and 23 to hear reports from agencies working on rust control and to make further plans to check the advance of this disease, made progress.

C. A. Park, president of the Oregon board of hortculture, and H. P. Darss, of the botany department of the agricultural college at Corvallis and one of the leaders in the fight on the blister rust, have initiated the third conference.

White Pine blister rust is not as harmless as the name would indicate, those interested in the campaign against it point out. From a minor tree disease in the Pacific Northwest, confined chiefly to British Columbia, the rust has spread to western Washington after becoming more than well established in British Columbia. Investigations have shown that the blight has not yet reached Oregon.

The ravage in Northwest forests has not been unlike the havoc caused by the boll-weevil in the southern cotton belt, except that the work of the boll-weevil is more apparent to the naked eye of the amateur than the pine blister rust. Great stands of white pine are threatened. White pine is one of the chief kinds of lumber grown and handled commercially in the Pacific northwest.

The growth and spread of the rust has been insidious, it was learned at the two previous conferences, and the average man has not become aware even of its existence. The destruction caused in forests by the blight is exceeded only by that caused by fires.

HOME NURSING and HEALTH HINTS

TED'S FATHER EXPLAINS

There was a scramble for the sitting room couch, and three interested youngsters clamored for the "rest of the story."

"Gracious, I thought you would have forgotten that promise," said Ted's father. Nevertheless he put down his book, cleared his throat, and began:

"Let's see. Where were we last night when the clock struck bedtime?"

"You said that sprains and strains and bruises and dislocations and fratures did not injure the skin. But Bill knows a man who had a fracture and the bone busted through the skin. It was a regular wound, Bill says."

And Bill was produced, looking a trifle scared.

Ted's father laughed.

"That was a compound fracture," he said. "There are two kinds, you know. Simple fractures are broken bones with no injury of the flesh or skin.

Compound fractures are properly wounds, and should be treated as such when first aid is given, because there is often more trouble from bleeding than from the actual pain of the broken bone."

The boys looked pleased with themselves.

"Now tell us, Dad, what a sprain is like. You forgot, last night," said Ted, who was playing master of ceremonies and parading his father's knowledge for the benefit of Bill, his chum.

"Sprains," said his father, thoughtfully, "are joint injuries. Sprains of the wrist and ankle are most common.

"Violent twisting or stretching of the ligaments through a fall or a misstep breaks down blood vessels, and there is an escape of blood and serum into the spaces around the joint. This causes pain and swelling around the joint."

"What is serum?" asked Ted.

"The liquid part of the blood," explained his father. "With a sprain there is always a severe pain, which increases if one attempt to move the injured part. There is severe swelling, but no deformity to speak of. There is shook very often."

"And what is shock?" asked Ted, determined to lose nothing of the little lecture, since he was still quite sure that he would be a doctor when he grew up.

"Shock is a whole story in itself. I'll tell you about it some other time. It is something from which almost every injured person suffers. But to get back to our sprains—we must never say, 'Oh, it's only a sprain,' and think of it as trivial. Sprains are important and a physician should be summoned at once. But in the mean time much may be done by the onlookers to lessen the pain.

"Absolute rest of the injured part is necessary to avoid rubbing the injured joint surfaces together. Don't let the patient step on the foot if he has a sprained ankle, or move his arm if his wrist is sprained. Raise the joint, if possible. Less blood will flow to the sprained part if the arm or foot is elevated, and this lessens swelling. Cold cloths containing crushed ice or snow are good things to apply, or the ankle may be placed under a tap of cold running water. Very hot water, as long as it does not burn, is equally as good as cold, but either must be used continuously for several hours if one expects to get results. Both cold and heat relieve pain."

"Thanks a lot, Dad," said Ted. "But I'm afaid I could never remember all a doctor has to know, I guess I'll be a cowboy."

BROOKS DISCUSSES JOHN'S EPISTLE FIRST CHAPTER

Continuing the study of the First Epistle of John and the first chapter at the Men's Bible class at the city hall, Rev. Keith Brooks said Sunday:

The denial that a deceived man makes of sin is shown in the ninth verse to be in contrast with the confession of sin which an enlightened man will make. "If we confess our sins he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." This passage belongs only to the true Christian. The believer's sins were atoned for on Calvary's cross, but when sins crop out in the life of the Christian, he has to confess them and thus he will be forgiven and restored to fellowship with God. If they are persisted in, He will deal with them in chastisement. Why should we confess our sins to God, since He knows all about us? God knows that the confession of sin is necessary to us. It drags sin into the light of His face. It shows us its foulness and makes us loathe it. It causes us to take sides with God against it.

John firmly declares that the Christian should not sin, that he must not sin; yet he recognizes that he does not sin often through frailty, and he next presents a gracious provision for dealing with sin in the life of the believer.

Truths in Epigram

A wise man who does not assist with his counsels, a rich man with his charity, and a poor man with his labor, are perfect nuisances in a commonwealth.—Swift.

LENINE'S GRATITUDE

Col. Haskell, director of American relief in Russia has been thanked by Premier Lenine for the aid extended by this country. This course hardly had been expected. Lenine is said to have promised better co-operation in the future. Lack of soviet co-operation had seemed to indicate that the bounty of America was not appreciated. Perhaps the premier had been too busy on his plans of reconstruction to think much concerning the millions of hungry Russians. In the interview with Col. Haskell, Lenine is credited with having said "I believe the people of any country have the right to whatever form of government they want, without interference from other governments."

It is not of record that anybody has disputed this sentiment in relation to Russia. The fault found with the soviet regime has been that it was not content with conducting its own affairs. It had planned to dominate the world from Moscow. To this end it had plotted to set up revolutions everywhere. At the least sign of social or economic trouble in other lands, it had sent emissaries and money to stir up deeper strife, evidently hoping that an industrial dispute would become the revolution of the bolshevist heart's desire. It was this course that had most to do with the creation of bitterness towards Lenine and his merry men; exactly that they were not attending to their own business, but threatening the public peace.

Doubtless the future government of Russia will be as the people of that country make it. Their privilege in respect of choice is not questioned. At present it is impossible to conceive that the popular will is ever to sustain the oligarchy erected by Lenine and Trotzky; an oligarchy condemned by the words of the man, more than any other, responsible for it.

DENATURING THE BALKANS

The plan of the allies for preserving the peace of Europe appears to include demilitarization of a strip approximately fifteen miles in width along both sides of the border between the ottoman frontier and France, from the Black sea to the Aegean. To this the consent of the Turks has not at this time been obtained. It is probable, however, that such consent will be given, willingly or unwillingly. Assuredly there is no such madness in Europe as could permit the Turk to remain a constant menace to the peace of the continent or even of the world. It is significant that the bloc which has perfected the plan mentioned, was inspired by the premier of Jugo-Slavia, and behind him have been the efforts of Venizelos of Greece. This is regarded as augurring a new Balkan entente, more comprehensive than the one now in existence.

Turkey still contends that it is entitled to greater territory in Europe. There apparently is not another power, unless distant Russia, to uphold this view. The presence of Turkey always has been a source of unrest or of actual war. The outrages committed upon Christian neighbors, in the opinion of all civilization, must establish the way to bring about cessation is to fix a rigid line which Turkey must not cross. The larger powers seem willing to provide a force sufficient to coerce Turkey into such behavior as shall be deemed proper. Thus, it may be hoped, the threat of another war has passed.

UNDERWORLD DIPLOMACY

To get his wares by any method available seems to be the policy of the bootlegger. He steals them when convenient. He robs fellow crooks at every opportunity. He buys when he must, but knowing that the liquor purchased often is spurious, of late he has been paying for it with money equally spurious. The bootlegger has become purveyor, not only of poison, but of counterfeit currency. Earlier in the game his counterfeiting was confined to labels and revenue stamps. He never hesitated to brand the rottenest compound, based on wood alcohol, as the finest of whisky. The depravity thus displayed seems to extend to all his operations. He is so vicious that, considered in every aspect, he is a danger. He practices theft and bribery, and often his activities give the blackmailer a chance. The whole business is without an element of decency. The patron of it is grossly swindled even if he procures the sort of beverage he pays for, since every one who has aided in the transaction requires an enormous profit.

The physical results of using wood alcohol to drink becomes more and more apparent. So general is the custom of peddling this deadly liquor, that many of its victims have been killed or rendered blind. The bootlegger cares nothing for this. More dupes are created to take the places of those slain.

These facts, somewhat familiar to all thoughtful readers, show why the people of California voted for the Wright law. They propose that the bootlegging outrages shall cease. They believe that society holds the power to put an end to the outrages. They demand the suppression of the bootlegger and all his varied iniquities.

FOREIGN PROPAGANDA

Senator France of Maryland announces that he will deliver a speech in denunciation of foreign propaganda, being incited to such course by the utterances of M. Clemenceau. Probably he will not actually deliver it, but later in the pages of the Congressional Record it may be found embalmed, and duly sprinkled with "applause" and "great applause." Senator France is one of the gentlemen who visited Russia and fell under the spell of the bolsheviki. They feasted and feted him, and sent him home stuffed with spurious data, which he spread as widely as the public press permitted. Senator Borah also promises a characteristic roar, and even the suave and kindly Hitchcock of Nebraska, may try to land a few forensic bumps on the French visitor.

It does not appear that Clemenceau is seeking to mislead anybody. He is not making assertions which there is no possibility of subjecting to proof, and thus rejecting if unworthy. He has spoken with frankness. He says that the United States left Europe in the lurch. So it did. A small clique of senators was in large measure responsible. They are seeking to perpetuate the same policy of aloofness. Clemenceau desires that this policy be broken down. He states his reason succinctly. If he errs, here is no chance that anybody will be deceived into believing his view correct. Meanwhile, he is stimulating thought concerning matters of vital importance. He is calling attention to dangers known to exist, but which there is a complacent determination to ignore. His mission is friendly, and his purpose fine. That he announces his theories in plain language is a trivial reason for ascribing fault to him.

The Stuff of Dreams

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Dr. Frank Crane

When I hear one of those Hard Practical Business Men railing at the world of thought, and contrasting its unreality with the Substantial Universe wherein he moves and has his being—I am compelled to smile.

I think of a certain bank I know.

It is a great institution. When the examiner calls for a statement of its resources they are found to total hundreds of millions. It has a vast, gray granite front, steel vaults deep into the earth, and when you pass through the tremendous doorway you stand, awed, in a Temple of Mammon so magnificent that it hushes your voice and sets a little trembling in your knees, and raises ever-so-slightly the hair on your spine.

The Hard Practical Business Man would agree that it is the realest thing in his splendidly Substantial Universe. It stands solidly, immovably there. Nothing can alter it. Nothing can vary the temper of reverence in which its steady stream of devotees come and go through those stupendous portals.

I think of all this, and then I remember what happened just a short while ago.

A rumor started somehow. Just a breath of wind. Nothing substantial. Scarcely so real as an idea. Just a suggestion that, perhaps, the mysterious, elusive thing, Prosperity, had been absent from that abode of granite and steel.

The whispered word rustled through the crowded streets. It was here and there and everywhere. No one knew whence it came, nor what authenticity it had, but the little breath swelled into a squally gale of Unfaith in that great Institution.

The rigid granite and the unyielding steel were of no avail.

A little insubstantial whisper was rocking them to and fro in the wind.

Men; little men, big men, employees, stockholders, depositors ran hither and thither, propping those great walls, insisting all was well, furiously denouncing the unknown Whisper.

Worse and worse the bank rocked on its foundations, until all the world could see it swaying drunkenly in the breeze, the wee zephyr of Thought.

A vast crash became imminent. A crash that would carry down neighboring buildings into ruin and leave hundreds of people destitute.

Laws were invoked to silence unbelief. New York state's statute books carry a law which penalizes very severely the utterance of False Words about any bank.

But laws were powerless to find the criminal.

And then, at last came a wise man and started another whisper, another little meaningless, unreal formula of Words. It blew up the streets like a cool, insidious little breeze.

It said that the strongest financial institution of the Western Hemisphere had taken over the problems of that great tottering bank.

On swift feet it traveled, silently, intangibly from place to place, creating faith, restoring confidence, relieving the tension.

And presently the Bank stood firm once more.

It had nearly been wrecked by a breath. It had been saved by a breath.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Along the streets and highways and thoroughfares, you will notice if you look, signs painted in very distinct and noticeable letters:

"SLOW."

If you are a careful driver you will observe them and heed.

If you are a careless driver you will pass over them at the usual high speed.

* * *

If you disregard them and come to a dangerous street intersection or some other place where there is unusual hazard you may get smashed.

Or you may smash somebody else.

Depending on the circumstance of chance.

* * *

If you get smashed you may wish you had heeded the sign in the road.

For pain and maiming are not pleasant things.

It is not a pleasant thing either to spend time in the hospital.

And the morgue is not an inviting place.

Although after you go to the morgue in your capacity as a corpse the proceedings subsequent will interest you little, to be sure.

* * *

The "SLOW" sign is put in the road for a purpose.

To warn you of danger ahead.

But there is no law to compel you to heed a warning.

Law cannot supply you with common sense or prudence or caution.

It can only punish you for failure to exercise them.

* * *

It would be far better of course, for you to heed the warning.

Just as it would be better if a lot of people heeded a general warning to the same effect to be posted along the way of life:

"SLOW."

For there is need of it.

The general tendency of the day is for fast traveling.

* * *

There are many objections to speed.

You do not enjoy the scenery.

You frazzle your nervous system.

You hazard your life.

You get nervous prostration and diabetes and a lot of things.

All because you insist on traveling too fast.

* * *

The prevailing mania for speed is undermining health and peace and serenity.

People are too busy.

They rush from engagement to engagement and from place to place at lightning speed.

What for?

* * *

Speed and greed are evil things.

Through one we are losing too many bodies.

Through the other we are losing too many souls.

For as speed destroys life so greed destroys spirit.

And both are to be checked.

The warning sign is there if you will read it.

"SLOW."

* * *

Better heed it now.

Don't attempt to get rich all at once.

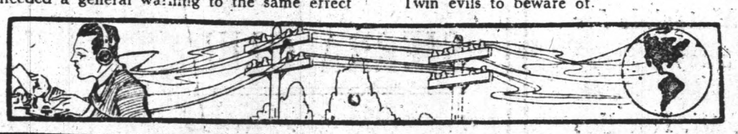
Don't try to burn up the road.

Don't take short cuts across lawns and flowers.

Don't hurry too much.

Speed and greed!

Twin evils to beware of.



Songs of the Poets

From the Harbor Hill—By Gustav Kobbe (1857——)

"Is it a sail?"
"No," I said.
"Only a white sea-gull with its pinions spread."

"Is it a spar?" she asked.
"No," said I.
"Only the slender light-house tower against the sky."

"Flutters a pennant there?"
"No," I said.
"Only a shred of cloud in the sunset red."

"Surely a hull, a hull!"
"Where?" I cried.
"Only a rock half bared by the ebbing tide."

"Wait you a ship?" I asked.
"Aye," quoth she.
"The Harbor Belle; her mate comes home to marry me."

"Surely the good ship hath Met no harm?"
Was it the west wind wailed, or the babe on her arm?

"The Harbor Belle!" she urged.
"Naught," said I—
For I knew o'er the grave of the "Harbor Belle" the sea-gulls fly.

WANTED—SOME NEW MOTTOS

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

"God bless our home" is the way our grandmothers embroidered it or worked it cross-stitch. Then they hung it in the dining room and forgot all about it, believing that God would do the rest.

Many times the family behaved as if the motto relieved them of all responsibility in the matter, but nobody was ever honest enough to fill out the motto, so:

"God bless our home — it will save us much effort," which, to my mind, would have been an admirable method of reminder to the careless and inconsiderate members of the flock. Our grandmothers were not cynical and they had an unquenchable faith in the Lord's power to revamp situations that nobody else took the trouble to adjust.

Modern folk have perhaps as much faith in the power of the Lord as had their forbears, but they sometimes hesitate to dump their bad work on the shoulders of the Almighty to be done over. Not that they have lost faith in the power of the Creator—not at all. But they do doubt His willingness to undertake the work which men have shirked.

In other words, we are now more disposed to face truth than the older generations.

Consider in this connection the truth contained in this sentence, which I suggest as a motto to be framed and hung in every home:

"Anybody who can destroy your peace of mind is, by that token, stronger than you."

Reflect upon it and connect your reflections with what follows:

You may not be able to separate yourself geographically from those who distress you. You may be bound to them by physical circumstances beyond your control. Financially you may be handcuffed to their bank books. Law and custom, duty and gratitude may bind you to them.

But nothing in the world save your own free will can fasten them to you mentally or emotionally, because the control of your reactions is in your hands. When a man or a circumstance can not effect you, you are free. Nothing but weakness can, therefore, enable anyone to destroy your mental peace.

Consider it in private and then your pride will help you free yourself.

In short, face the truth.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

WHO OWNS THE AIR?

[Waterbury American]

The suit of the Omaha young man who says that a combination of powerful radio, electric, telephone and telegraph corporations are hogging the air and confining the smaller people to a very limited range of wave lengths around 360 meters, although there are 25,000 wave lengths that might be used, may be acting in the interest of thousands of people who find the programs so crowding upon one another that they can't get half they would like to get and which they think they could get if the service they enjoy was not so restricted. Whether he is or not, this suit at least will determine what the individual rights in the air are going to be and whether the air is subject of possible monopoly.

JAILS AND SAVINGS BANKS

[Milwaukee Sentinel]

Prohibition has its merits which do not require arguments based on an erroneous conception of facts to support them. Mighty few people would gladly like to see the saloon come back as it used to be.

It hasn't emptied the jails in Wisconsin. The figures prove that. But that doesn't mean that it isn't a good thing or that it isn't working a lot of benefit. The savings bank figures, for example, prove a good deal more for prohibition than the jail population proves against it.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

A decision of Judge Houser relative to certain property rights has been reversed by Justice Works of the court of appeals. The first decision had upheld the rights of a wife to take towards the property of her husband, a course that, taken by an outside party, would have constituted a crime. The reversal says:

HENRY JAMES

"Such a termination of the cause would advertise to the world the fact that wives may rob husbands with impunity, and that they may commit against their husbands inherently immoral acts . . . which if committed by others . . . would bring condign punishment upon the offender under the laws denouncing crimes of embezzlement and forgery."

The public naturally has but casual information concerning the case. It would appear that the appellate court had shorn the gentler sex of a privilege bestowed by the court below. Possibly the view is not gallant, but nevertheless, the popular tendency will be to side with the reversal. The idea that in some fashion a married person, by the act of marriage, has become immune to certain laws supposed to govern human conduct, appears in evidence every little while. It does not seem to operate in the interests of fairness and good order.

Of course no judge relishes a reversal, yet such things happen right along. Judge Houser himself is soon to take the appeal bench, and then doubtless he will have a chance to reverse some other judge, and perhaps the operation will be comforting.

* * *

The picture of a girl who was sentenced to five days in jail shows her to be very handsome, and to have a winning smile. Very evidently the picture had been taken before she had listened to the remarks of the judge, and how the judge could look at the original and make the remark is a mystery.

San Francisco has just authorized the issue of $12,000,000 school bonds, the majority being heavy. Only a short time ago Los Angeles voters enthusiastically sanctioned a similar issue to the amount of $17,500,000.

Probably there is not another city in the United States that has duplicated either of these records. There is considerable pride taken by Californians in their schools.

An old timer from the Dakota country has revived interest in the Custer massacre by recounting the story from the angle of the Indians. He affirms that the affair was not an ambush.

The tragedy occurred many years ago, and yet there are many living who remember well the horror of it. They regarded it as an ambush then, nor are they likely to change this opinion. But there was grave fault on the part of army men. Custer was reckless and Reno was drunk; the Indians took advantage of the opportunity.

* * *

It is singular how the eccentricities of the ex-kaiser are permitted to assume the gravity of official acts. Lately he pinned a decoration on the breast of an imbecile with whom he had acquired relationship through marriage. The incident was ridiculous, and was not without pathos, but the friends of the former monarch ought to have suppressed accounts of it.

Frank Chance, once famous as a baseball manager, is going back into the big league in his former role. He wants to do this. He has all his old enthusiasm, and plenty of money. There is every reason to predict success for him, but Damon Runyon says otherwise.

Runyon is a sport writer, an unusually good one. As a rule he is eminently fair in his judgments. This time there is reason to believe he errs.

German civilians have been attacking allied soldiers again. It seems that the soldiers were carrying out orders to inspect something that the civilians did not desire inspected.

There flashes across the vision of newspaper readers two feminine personalities that appeal to the imagination. Indeed, it is suspected that originally they sprang from the imagination. One of these charming creatures is "Bandit Betty." She goes about with a gang in a high-powered automobile, all seeking whom they may devour. When the victim has been found, she directs the robbery, her tinkling laughter doing much to brighten an occasion that otherwise might be somber.

The second charmer is "Bootleg Bessie," likewise a blithe and sunny soul, who ought to be shot on sight.

* * *

Appointment of a justice of the supreme court leads to the information that he is a member of a certain church and of a certain political party.

In the interpretation of the law these relationships should cut no figure. Information touching upon them is quite unnecessary. The natural belief is that a man is named for high station because of his fitness, and neither for his politics nor religion.

Ohio has a place for the care of the mentally unfit, morons as it has become the custom to call them. The place is a farm.

Recently fourteen semi-imbeciles who should have been at the farm, were discovered working in Pennsylvania coal mines "under terrible conditions," and rescued by state police.

The next news touching this matter should be that the persons responsible for renting imbeciles into slavery, are in jail, and whether or not "under terrible conditions" would be a matter of comparative indifference.

WATCHING THE PARADE

BY JOHN PILGRIM

My wife says that Tommy Kelly is always dressed up like a haberdasher's idea of a gentleman. Therefore she thinks he is various sorts of a simpleton. Whereas I insist that Tommy is right.

"Window dressing sells goods," I said. "Even if the goods aren't worth much. They always look better through a plate glass than on the human form."

I suspect that Tommy knows he isn't a mental giant. When other people are around who know how to talk and what to talk about and are sure of their facts, Tommy, like Brer Rabbit, lies very low. It is only when he finds himself in easy company that he loosens up and chatters. Then he feels safe from discovery.

At all times, though, Tommy looks and dresses the part—any well dressed part. On a Sunday afternoon he looks like a secretary of state taking a king to lunch. On the golf course he has the latest in togs. If he goes to the races he probably has a racing suit. His trousers are the neatest, most creased, most elegantly-shaped trousers that ever adorned a manly leg. His coats always fit like those of the Prince of Wales, who has won international fame as a snappy dresser.

One result is that his clothes take one's mind off Tommy. If one happens to be of that breed of men who are awed by sartorial magnificence, one forgets that Tommy is small potatoes and few in the hill mentally. If one happens to be of the other sort one must, nevertheless, give one's attention to Tommy's vestments. And Tommy is smart enough not to talk when he is out of his depth. That is one easy way to drown.

Most of us do not pay enough attention to our clothes, any how. Yet they are our first approach to strangers, as a salesman psychologist would say. It takes a whale of a man to break down the impression created by a blotch of soup on the waistcoat. The better the preacher the better the clothes. A lawyer who is seedy sartorically would not be selected to try a case in which great acumen is demanded. Actors always know enough to dress the part. They know that much, anyhow.

Therefore I am confident that in time Tommy will cease to be a sort of a dressed up butterfly. A man who has gumption enough to dress like prosperity is apt eventually to have prosperity in which to dress.

Thanksgiving is Donation Day at the Children's Hospital

SUNSET BOULEVARD AND VERMONT AVENUE, LOS ANGELES

What You Can Do to Help the Hospital

An Annual Membership is $5.00. This is within the means of everyone and is an ideal way to support the hospital.

Adult Life Membership is $50.00; Child's Life Membership is $25.00.

Supporting Membership is $100.00 per year.

$300.00 given the first year, with $50.00 each succeeding year, entitles you to name a child's crib. These cribs are known as "named cribs" and the name of the donor remains on crib as long as annual subscription is maintained.

$500.00 annually supports a bed; $1000 names a bed.

A gift of $5000.00 at any one time endows a crib in perpetuity, permits you to name crib and also to designate patient to occupy crib, subject to the rules of the hospital. Hospital reserves right to use crib for any free patient when crib is not filled by donor.

Ten thousand dollars, given at one time, endows a bed in perpetuity.

A gift of $15,000.00 at one time endows a room in perpetuity.

Any sum may at any time be added to the general endowment fund, the income of which is used to meet general expenses. This endowment fund is now disproportionately small.

Any endowment for a special purpose will always be welcomed; our needs are many and the officers of the hospital will be glad to consult with anyone contemplating a special endowment.

The Federal Income Tax Law enables one to actually give the Children's Hospital Society a larger amount than it costs him to make the gift.

YOU CAN MAKE THESE CHILDREN AS HAPPY AS THESE CHILDREN

What One Can Do to Help the Hospital

There are many smaller ways in which you can help the Children's Hospital—and your help through these channels will be just as much appreciated.

You can buy milk for one baby for one month or for one year by becoming an honorary member of the Los Angeles Auxiliary.

You can donate garments for the Baby Ward and assist the Auxiliary in sewing.

You can put your child's name on the Cradle Roll.

You can supply a brace for a crippled child, for from $15.00 to $75.00, or you can volunteer your services to the Children's Committee for one of its many activities.

You can drive your machine in the Motor Corps and assist it in transporting little patients to and from the hospital.

You can work at the hospital in taking records and weighing babies.

You can assist the Hollywood, Hermosa or El Segundo Auxiliaries, if you live in their locality.

You can interest a group of friends in your own locality to form an auxiliary. Officers of the hospital would be glad to confer with anyone wishing to do this.

You can make direct donations to the hospital of fruit and vegetables, fresh and canned; jellies, linen of all kinds, children's nightdresses, or material for making same.

You can furnish new curtains, rugs or furniture for any of the wards or nurses' rooms.

If you can do any of these things communicate with—

TRIO ON 'LARK' ARE BROUGHT TO HALT HERE

Two Boys and Girl, "Touring State," Are Released After Confessions

A girl and two boys who were taken into custody of the Burbank police department when creating a disturbance in San Fernando boulevard Thursday, have been released and returned to their homes in Long Beach and Huntington Beach until such time as the girl's father brings definite action against the boys.

Olive Ryan, the girl, it is stated, was to have married Chester Flanagen, 16, and the couple left their homes in an automobile Sunday, November 18, but did not get married. Later they picked up another boy, Clarence Eldridge, also of Long Beach, and the trio have been driving all over the state in the machine. The Eldridge boy is a runaway, it is said.

Police got in touch with the parents of the girl and her father called at the Burbank police station for her Friday. The two boys were released following a confession and may have to face charges to be brought by the girl's father.

The girl and Flannagan had the permission of their parents to be married, according to the police, and left home with permission.

BURBANK RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Lucy Young passed away at 4:30 Thursday morning at her home, 235 Tujunga avenue.

Mrs. Young came here from Sprague, Wash., about three years ago. Her niece, Miss Minna Smith was living with her at the time of her death. She leaves a son, who is living in Alaska and other relatives in Washington and Illinois.

Services were held from Jewel City undertaking parlors, in Glendale, Saturday.

FEDERAL MATERNITY BILL was signed by President Harding in November, 1921. Its purpose is to promote the welfare of maternity and infancy in the United States, it being administered by the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor. There is a Board of Maternity and Infant Hygiene made up of the chairman of the Children's Bureau, the surgeon general of the United States Public Health service, and the United States commissioner of education. One million four hundred and eighty thousand dollars appropriation was authorized for the first fiscal year and $1,240,000 for each of the succeeding five years, this money to be, for the most part, divided among the states accepting the act.

PINE TIMBER is used mostly for house building, not only for the coarser work, but also for flooring, doors, window frames, and interior finish.

HOW WORK REWARDS

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Handicaps of Childhood," Etc.
(Copyright, 1922, by The Associated Newspapers)

In a recent issue of the Century Magazine appeared an article phrasing in a new form an old but still generally unappreciated truth. The article was anonymous, was entitled "A Confession," and dealt with the perplexities of one long vainly in search for contentment and peace of mind.

Also the article told how both were at last found, and how at the same time there was an allaying of the self-pity that is characteristic of the dissatisfied:

"I escaped from my prison-house by the door of the very work which I hated. Work and more work was the remedy; no novel and ingenious device had to be called into play."

And:

"Little by little I learned the lesson that any work will do if we only develop sufficient wit to grasp its significance and understand its surprising resources. Any kind of work is good enough for any kind of man, provided the man be good enough for the work."

This last quotation is especially to the point in our age of widespread discontent with the particular kind of work the individual finds himself called upon to do.

Not only are there many persons seemingly obsessed with a craving to avoid work altogether. There are many others whose lament is, not that they have to work, but that they are engaged in work which they deem "beneath them," or unduly arduous.

Enviously they say of some acquaintance:

"If I only had his job I should have nothing of which to complain. His work is clean and easy. He is not in slavery, as I am."

Yet that same acquaintance, the chances are, is anxiously regarding some other acquaintance whose work seems to him "cleaner" and "easier" than his own. It is a malady that is epidemic, this hating of our own job and wishing for somebody else's.

And always it testifies to a point of view, a mental attitude, that robs work of the beneficent possibilities it possesses. For, rightly considered, as the author of "A Confession" fortunately learned, there is nothing like work to make life durably satisfactory.

This because work, when one looks at it sensibly and engages in it ardently, affords, as nothing else can, free play for instincts which must gain expression or rend him in whom they have been implanted.

The instinct to grow and expand, the instinct to construct, the instinct to be socially helpful, to contribute to the welfare of the race, these and other instincts find their one sure outlet in work. He who fails to work, or works resentfully, thwarts and represses them. Hence he suffers.

LUCILE TRENT IS RUN OVER BY AUTO

Accident May Result in the Placing of Traffic Officer at Schools

Lucile Trent, Burbank girl, and pupil at the Thomas A. Edison grammar school, was run over by an automobile in front of the school Friday night.

A teacher of the school was attempting to make the way safe for the children to cross by flagging the automobiles, according to police, when a man, recklessly driving a Ford, struck the girl and ran over her, it is said.

The man refused to give his name, but witnesses of the accident took the number of the car and police are taking drastic action to find the man who was driving the car.

There has been considerable talk of placing a traffic officer at the schools to see that the children are kept away from the boulevard and to help them effect a crossing when they so desire.

The proposition will come before the board of trustees at its meeting Tuesday and persons interested in the matter are urged to be present to support the proposal.

When in doubt, mind your own business.

The Household Budget; A BUSINESS INSTITUTION!

THE housewife who saves FIRST — saves MOST. The money spent unnecessarily is the rock upon which many households are wrecked.

THE household that is operated on a business basis is the one that keeps a faithful record of income and expenditures and shows at the end of the month a net profit of from ten to twenty per cent on the month's business.

THE household with an income of $200 per month ordinarily should save from $20 to $40 per month, and that NET PROFIT should be represented in a SAVINGS BANK ACCOUNT.

YOU cannot save money and spend it, too. When the weekly or monthly income is received, ten or twenty per cent should be at once set aside as the main and chief EXPENSE ITEM. It should be deposited in a SAVINGS ACCOUNT and regarded as the prime and necessary EXPENSE.

HOUSEHOLDERS should prepare a budget for each month's expense and adhere strictly to it. Unusual expenditures can very largely be forestalled by the household budget. In preparing your household budget, include a column for SAVINGS (make it the very first column), another for groceries and meat, furniture and utensils, clothing, doctor and medicine, church and charities, theatres and amusements, candy and cigars, motor car upkeep and renewals, insurance and lodge dues, and a miscellaneous column for unusual items.

THE household that is operated by ear instead of by note is the household that has nothing to show for numerous expenditures during a month or a year. The greatest question in the American household is, "WHERE DOES ALL THE MONEY GO?"

THE average business man is thrifty and a good plumber in stopping leaks in his office or his store, but a very poor "aid and comfort" in his business relations at home. He gives his wife a sum of money whenever she needs it, or he hands her a check at the end of the week and wonders how much the next "touch" will be for.

THE AMERICAN HOME needs a firm business foundation, whether it is a rented home or owned by its occupants. There is too much "penny wise and pound foolishness."

WE ARE READY at all times and will be happy to advise you how to create a household budget and operate your home on a business basis. We will help you to make your housekeeping something more than getting up, getting breakfast, washing dishes, getting lunch, washing dishes again, getting supper and washing more dishes. When you have a schedule upon which to operate, where every transaction in the household counts for something accomplished, the matter of keeping house will be transformed into a matter of getting more than results—you will get profits.

IT HAS often been said that if you want it done RIGHT—let the women do it. We have an abiding faith that the women of Glendale and vicinity will be interested in our plan to operate the home at a profit.

PATIENCE is one of the greatest human elements. Patience has saved thousands of dollars and thousands of lives. Patient adherence to an ideal has glorified an endless number of lives. Patience is what American people need —there is too much jazzomania in America.

SET for yourself a task to accomplish certain things before old age bends you low. Read the following table and see what $1 per week, deposited in a savings bank, will do for you in one, two, three, four, five and ten years. Here is the table; glance over it.

Weekly Deposit	1 year	2 years	3 years	4 years	5 years	10 years
$1.00	$53.05	$108.24	$165.65	$225.38	$287.53	$629.04

OPEN a savings account for your children and for yourselves. Pile up a fund for a college course for your children that they may be equipped with something no one can take from them when they enter the world of competitive business.

REMEMBER—the way to save MOST is to save FIRST. The sum of $1 opens an account.

MR. AND MRS. MOYSE RETURN FROM OAKLAND

They Make Study of the Latest Ideas in Plants

Principal and Mrs. Moyse, who spent last week in Oakland, report very profitable sessions of the Superintendents' Convention and extremely interesting things to be learned in connection with the big school building program which is being carried out there in harmony with ideals of the State University. When it was learned that Mr. Moyse had a special reason for his interest in the matter, the plans were put at his disposal for study and every courtesy was shown him by the city architect, members of the board of education, members of the site committee, and superintendent of construction. Many of the details in these plans have been tested out in actual use and are, therefore, of the greater value. He is hoping to get time to study them farther.

A few years ago the city superintendent of Oakland called the school principals together and asked them to turn in reports of things that in their judgment school buildings should contain. These suggestions were turned over to the city architect, who incorporated them in a set of tentative plans which were turned back for criticism. Those plans were the basis of the present building, which includes the University high school, now about ready for the roof, which is a practice school for the University training school for teachers. Then, there is the Roosevelt high school in Oakland, for which the ground has just been broken, and a vocational high school, for which plans have been made but construction not yet started. These were the more valuable to him because they were the composit ideas of a group of educators, rather than one architect.

He found a good many junior high schools are being built and some six-year high schools in which junior and senior high work is combined with seeming satisfaction.

A number of amendments of existing laws were suggested by the legislative committee, of which County Superintendent Keppel is chairman. One such suggestion would make it possible for boards of education to reject all bids if they saw fit, and have school buildings constructed by day labor.

Another suggestion would legalize the building of student dormitories and teacheries in sparsely settled districts which seem to demand them.

At the close of the convention the State Board of Education expressed satisfaction with the attendance and the accomplishments of the gathering and the cooperation of the State University. Dr. Rugh, chairman of the committee of fifteen devoted to research work in education, told of the parcelling out of problems to be investigated by the individual members and brought to a committee of the whole for discussion.

Wednesday afternoon had been reserved for visiting and no convention program was provided. Those who wished to do so visited schools. Others were taken for a tour of Berkeley and Piedmont over the sky-line drive and on to Mills' College, with a stop at Joaquin Miller's old home, through the courtesy of the Chamber of Commerce.

OLD-FASHIONED CANE RUSHES are now practically obsolete in American college life. It was customary for these rushes to take place in the wee small hours of the morning when, after much preliminary noise and excitement, two classes would line up facing each other about 100 yards apart. Two men, one chosen by each class, would stand half-way between the two lines, facing each other, gripping a long, stout stick, each with his back to his mates. A pistol was fired and a few hundred men piled on top of each other; a notorious history of broken bones and deaths; and then the rush was abolished.

"DEMERCATION LINE" was a line determined by Pope Alexander VI in 1493, this line being drawn from north to south about half way between Africa and Florida and giving Spain all newly discovered lands west of the line, Portugal getting all such lands east of the line.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

THE BIRD AND THE SONG

(After Gilbert & Sullivan)

A little bird sat on the limb of a tree
Saying "Get it, go get it, go get it!"
As cheerful a bird as a birdie could be,
With his: "Get it, go get it, go get it!"
His manner was glad and his notes clear and firm,
And he said: "In the world there is many a worm,
But don't fuss and complain and don't wriggle and squirm,
Just get it, go get it, go get it!"

"In the world," said the bird, "there is much that is glad
If you'll get it, go get it, go get it.
And if in the search you find something that's sad,
Forget it, forget it, forget it!
The world will be sad and the day will be blue
If you wait for its blessings to come right to you,
So if you want joy there is one thing to do,
Just get it, go get it, go get it!

"Don't think fate is bitter—if you want your share
Just get it, go get it, go get it.
The chance is right good it is just over there,
So get it, go get it, go get it.
I just want to say that the chances are slim
To get what you wish if you stay on a limb,
You have to keep moving to keep in the swim,
So get it, go get it, go get it.

My thanks, Little Birdie, for all that you say,
For your "get it, go get it, go get it."
I know there is gladness and joy by the way,
So I'll get it, go get it, go get it!
There's a whole lot of truth in the song that you sing,
There's a lot of good sense in the message you bring,
And I won't sit and wait, for that slow-coming thing,
But I'll get it, go get it, go get it!

AT THE THEATERS

SHERLOCK HOLMES AT GLENDALE, IS NEW YORK HIT

Sherlock Holmes, Conan Doyle's master detective, has at last found his way to the screen in a tremendously thrilling and human photoplay. The Goldwyn picture, "Sherlock Holmes," starring John Barrymore, opened a four days' engagement in Glendale at the Glendale theater and is a huge success here. No wonder New York kept it running for more than three months at the Cameo theater! It is the sort of picture that managers and directors dream of doing, but so seldom do. Great credit belongs to Albert Parker for the masterly way in which he directed the filming of the story, which was adapted from William Gillette's stage play based on the Doyle character.

"Sherlock Holmes" is screen entertainment at its best; it deserves to stand high in the list of twenty big productions which Goldwyn has slated for its season's output. The great detective lives in the artistic and capable hands of John Barrymore; the actor humanizes the sleuth at every turn. The love story which Gillette introduced is retained, casting a romantic light chasing to earth of Professor Moriarty.

Supporting Mr. Barrymore are a score of capable and well-known players of stage and screen, such as Roland Young, Carol Dempster, Gustave von Seyffertitz, Hedda Hopper, William H. Powell, Anders Randolf, Robert Schable, Reginald Denny, David Torrence, Percival Knight, Robert Fischer, Lumsden Hare, Albert Bruning and Louis Wolheim.

There is an eternal, fascinating something about the unraveling of mystery and crime which enchains the human mind; nowhere has it been shown to better advantage than in the Sherlock Holmes stories which are epitomized in this photoplay.

The film producer was trying to persuade a super to wrestle with a lion.

"You needn't be afraid," he said. "The beast is perfectly tame. He's never tasted raw meat."

"No; perhaps not," said the perspiring actor, "but that doesn't mean that he may not be full of curiosity."

"THE KENTUCKY DERBY" AT THE T. D. & L.

Sweeping from the rolling hills and blue grass estates of old Kentucky to the shipyard dens of New York and then to the rocky promontories of an island off the coast of faraway China, "The Kentucky Derby" unrolls a thrilling and romantic breadth of action on the screen of the T. D. & L. theater today.

The action is of the romantic, adventurous type. If Sir Walter Scott were alive today, one could suspect him of having written it. As an actual fact, Charles T. Dazey wrote the stage play from which it was adapted and George Hull made the screen adaptation.

"The Kentucky Derby" is a romantic tale of wide reaching adventure, centered, of course, about the great turf classic.

Universal did not attempt to film "The Kentucky Derby" in the usual disguised California atmosphere, but staged it right where the action lay, principally in Kentucky. Scenes meant to be on a faraway Pacific island were staged, not in Chinese territory, of course, but nevertheless on a Pacific island.

"It was the first time I had ever driven a car," feebly explained the victim of the accident. "I got to going pretty fast and forgot how to stop. I looked ahead and saw a bridge rushing to meet me. I tried to turn out to let the bridge pass and—that is all I know about it."

HUNTINGTON TO MEET HIGH ON MOYSE FIELD

League Game Between Lightweights Is One of Thanksgiving Events

A league game between the lightweight teams of Huntington Park and Glendale High, to be played Thanksgiving Day on Moyse field, is one of the holiday possibilities.

The Glendale team has been giving a very good account of itself, having so far won two games in the contest for the Southern California championship, and lost none. After Huntington Park it will have two more games to play. As that school defeated the team last year, in both football and basketball, the Glendale boys are on their toes, determined to reverse the score this time if it is within the limits of possibility.

HIGH THANKSGIVING SILVER OFFERING OF $75.66

Students of Glendale High gave their Thanksgiving silver offering Monday, the returns totalling $75.66, with prospects of it being increased. This sum will be turned over to the Parent-Teacher Association of the school, by it to be donated to the Glendale Welfare Bureau, to be used in providing Thanksgiving cheer for those who otherwise would not have it.
